

PEACE TALK SUPREME EFFORT BY ALLIES ON SOMME

PRESIDENT'S CONFERENCE REVIVES RUMOR THAT MEDIATION IS NEARING

Full Investigation of Alleged Election Frauds In Indiana Will Be Made By Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A long conference today between President Wilson and Colonel E. M. House, his personal advisor, who quietly arrived at the White House last night, caused reports in official circles that a move toward European peace was being seriously contemplated by the president. Secretary to the President Tumulty today declined to comment upon the conference. It was pointed out by persons close to the president, however, that there "has been a lot of peace talk lately."

Whether President Wilson will continue longer in his present determination that "the time is not ripe for peace efforts is a matter of doubt. It is known that serious consideration is being given here to continued efforts in European quarters to have the pope, President Wilson and the king of Spain join in asking the belligerent nations to declare for peace.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Administration leaders here today are planning to have the senate turn full attention to political affairs in Indiana when the investigation in national campaign expenditures is begun. Reports are current that approximately $2,500,000 was spent in that state recently by republicans to bring about the election of James E. Watson of Louisville and Harry S. New of Indianapolis as United States senators.

Democratic members of the house declared today that the political complexion of that body would be greatly affected by the campaign investigation. It is charged that proof has been obtained that votes were bought in nine districts which elected republicans.

Attorney-General Gregory today laid further evidence of election frauds, charged against both big political parties, before President Wilson. The evidence primarily concerned the importation of negroes from southern states into the north previous to the national election, which, department of justice officials say, was for voting purposes.

The situation presented in West Virginia where it is charged that many votes were bought, also was discussed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Secretary of State Lansing announced today that the United States was not making a diplomatic issue out of the transportation of Belgians from Belgium into Germany for farm labor. No official protest has been made, the department merely presenting the Belgium claim to Berlin.

Secretary Lansing issued the following statement:

"We have made no protest. To create the impression that we have protested would embarrass us in our relations with other governments. We represent Belgium and acted on behalf of the Belgians in presenting their case to Germany. We would do the same thing for any other country whose interests are represented."

GIVE THANKS NOV. 30.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The White House today officially announced for the first time that President Wilson has designated November 30 as Thanksgiving day. Doubt as to whether November 23 or November 30 would be selected has resulted in thousands of telegrams of inquiry being received in the past three days. The president has not yet completed his Thanksgiving day proclamation.

TIFFIN POLICE CHIEF IS FACING CHARGES

TIFFIN, O., Nov. 15.—Chief of Police Claude E. Myers was suspended by Mayor Walter K. Keppel on recommendation of Safety Director William Heller. He will serve a nominal deal," declared today. "They are of me for political

SCHOOL BUILDINGS ARE LACKING COAL

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15.—The coal shortage, combined with the storm of last night and today already has closed up one school building and it was indicated that any protracted snow storm would result in the closing of all school buildings in Cleveland.

The trouble, according to school board members, is that the schools have no coal supply on hand and depend each day on the few wagon loads given them.

Should a heavy fall of snow hinder delivery for even one day every building would be without coal to keep steam up.

COLUMBUS.—A fake electric light inspector, while "examining" the newly rented apartments of Mrs. L. J. Hyndor in North Fourth street, stole $1,000 worth of jewelry and a purse containing $35.

SALONICA.—While conditions remained critical in Athens, with the French Admiral du Fournet practically in the position of dictator, thousands of Greeks have deserted the Greek army and joined the forces of the Venizelos provisional government to fight alongside the Serbs, French and British against the Bulgars.

ing mobilized preparatory to the formation of the Venizelos division which is expected to be put into action shortly in Serbia. At present this force of Venizelists is said to nearly equal an army corps.

OHIO SUFFRAGISTS OPEN SESSION WITH REPORTS OF ADVANCEMENT

That Ohio women soon would have the right to vote, and that the dividing line in the Ohio Federation of Woman's Clubs would no longer exist, was the assertion of Mrs. Anna Johnson, third vice president of the Ohio Woman Suffrage Association, which is in session today and tomorrow at the Trinity M. E. church.

The first session was opened by the state president, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, and was followed by addresses of welcome by Mrs. Kent W. Hughes, Mrs. D. L. Sherwood, and a letter from Mayor Ballis Simpson who was unable to attend in person.

The meeting which was largely attended was very enthusiastic especially during the reports of the vice presidents, Miss Zara Du Pont, of which was sent by Mrs. Charles Brooks, who was unable to attend this meeting. A discussion of this subject was led by Mrs. O. F. Davisson, of Dayton.

Miss Elizabeth Hauser, of Girard, chairman of the organization gave a report of the work accomplished, which was followed by a discussion which closed the morning session.

At 12:30 luncheon was served in the parlors of the church by the women of the church.

Committee of the arrangements included Mrs. B. A. Gramm, chairman; Mrs. Scott McGinnis, Mrs. P. G. Borges, Mrs. Glenn Wallace, Mrs. Beecher Moke and Mrs. Charles Black.

Hostesses for the occasion were: Mrs. J. W. Roby, Mrs. C. S. Baxter, Mrs. E. M. Gooding, Mrs. J. E. Grosjean, Mrs. D. J. Cable, Mrs. Geo. At 2 o'clock the meeting opened with a report of the treasurer, Mrs. Zell Hart Deming of Warren.

Mrs. Malcolm McBride of Cleveland, chairman of the finance committee, gave the national budget report. This report was followed by an excellent address on "Ohio's Share and How to Get It," by Mrs. Roger G. Perkins of Cleveland.

G. O. P. LOSES HOPE OF GAINS IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Nov. 15.—Resumption of the official presidential count in California today found republican leaders hopeless of any important changes being made in the 8,600 plurality given President Wilson in the unofficial returns.

Charles Evans Hughes has made less than 200 votes net gain in the entire state. Of this 190 votes gain was secured in Los Angeles county. About one-fourth of the precincts are still uncounted. Twenty-two errors were discovered by the Los Angeles board of supervisors, resulting in Hughes' gain of 150 votes against President Wilson's loss of 55. One hundred votes of these were gained in Watts, where an election clerk credited Hughes with 43 instead of 143.

With approximately half of the votes counted, the official returns in Alameda county do not differ materially from the unofficial returns. After two days of counting the president gained 20 votes.

Republican leaders placed their main dependence upon these three counties for possible errors of sufficient importance to reverse the result in California.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 15.—Governor Willis was 9,037 votes behind Governor-elect Cox today when Secretary of State Hildebrand totaled returns from 55 counties. Some returns were unofficial and incomplete. Gallia, Greene, Morgan were missing. Totals are: Cox, 558,310; Willis, 549,283; Pomerene, 509,988; Herrick, 459,872; Bloom, 552,368; Arnold, 520,854; Fulton, 544,607; Hildebrand, 526,534; Donahay, 558,863; Adams, 507,705; McGhee, 537,985; Turner, 523,537; Donahue, 532,975; Johnson, 383,109; Joyce, 278,932; Summers, 240,825. Votes for President Wilson and Hughes were not totaled.

BRITISH ADVANCE TWO MILES AND FACE NEW GERMAN RESISTANCE

Battle Line In Balkans Surges Back and Forth In Gigantic Struggle.

CANADIANS ARE HEROES

Soldiers Of The Dominion Win Death And Fame On The Western Front.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—England's supreme effort on the Somme front is now meeting with formidable obstacles. Having pressed forward for nearly two miles, capturing 6,000 German prisoners the British are now face to face with new and powerful fortifications between Beaucourt and Miraumont.

The mighty thrust which the British launched alone is now receiving the co-operation of the French. Strong French infantry attacks were driven home south of Bapaume. Throughout the night there was violent cannonading all along the twenty mile strip of Somme front.

While German infantrymen sought to stem the onrush of the allied legions, massed batteries of Krupp maintained curtains of drum fire along the rear of the new allied positions.

Despatches from the front today give graphic accounts of fighting amidst the ruined buildings of Beaucourt, which was captured by General Haig's men on Tuesday. The German garrison holding the village had fortified most of the houses and had built tunnels connecting up these block houses underground. Even the cellars had been turned into fortresses. When the British soldiers began to fight their way through the streets, clambering over the piles of wreckage, they were met with withering blasts from machine guns and rifles. The combat finally resolved itself into a hand to hand struggle with the bayonet. Using their rifles like clubs, the soldiers battered their way forward.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 15.—The pendulum of victory is swinging with uncertain movements in the Balkans.

While the Serbians were moving forward in Macedonia driving the Bulgarians and Germans before them, the Austro-German offensive against northern Rumania suddenly gained fresh impetus which rolled back the Russo-Rumanian troops at several points.

In Dobrudja Von Mackensen's German allies are being attacked on three sides although the pressure against the flanks comes only from artillery and not by infantry. Von Mackensen's army is in a position difficult to attack with both flanks protected one by the Danube and the other by the Black sea.

On the Transylvanian front the Tenthons have gained in the Dragovala, Alt and Jial valleys, but their assaults elsewhere broke down except in the Carpathians where the Russian forces had to give ground.

The Serbs have now advanced over 15 miles into Serbian territory. North of the Tchernia river the Serbians are now engaged on the Monastir plain, having successfully crossed two high mountain ranges. This gives them a decided advantage in their efforts to envelop Monastir City.

CANADIANS PLAY BIG PART

Capture 1000 Yards of German Trenches on Somme.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Canadian troops played a big part in the new British drive on the Somme front. According to official despatches from the Canadian headquarters to the war office today the Canadians captured 1000 yards of German trenches, including the last section of the famous Regina trench that had remained in possession of the Germans.

The bayonet charges of the Canadians were supported by a stiff barrier fire that protected them so well that they suffered exceptionally small losses.

The new positions of the British have been consolidated, it is officially announced.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—Using liquid fire bombs the Germans launched strong counter attacks against

MISS SARAH DU PONT
First Vice President.

Cleveland; Miss Dora Sandee Bachman, of Columbus; Miss Anna B. Johnson, of Springfield.

Many interesting things were told of the work these women are doing, and reports indicate a radical change is due in the cause of suffrage in Ohio.

Mrs. Bachman, second vice president, stated she was sent to Minneapolis, Minn., to the state conference by a body of Columbus men as their representatives, a proceeding that had never before taken place. She also told that when she, with her committee visited the resolution committee of the state democratic convention at Columbus, she was shown all the courtesy due her.

Mrs. Bachman was the first woman to have been elected on the school board of Columbus, and has held that position for seven years. She announced that the change in the attitude of men especially toward the efficiency of women, and also to the suffrage cause is decidedly surprising and favorable.

Miss Anna Johnson, in her report won much applause from her statement that the spirit in all the clubs was such that it would be only the matter of a few years when there would be no dividing line in the federation of the state.

Miss Mary Louise Allen read the report of the enrollment committee.

ELLA M. HAAS
State Worker.

William Pierce, Mrs. D. L. Sherwood, and Mrs. E. C. Powell.

The tables were decorated with yellow candles, yellow and white chrysanthemums, and yellow suffrage flags carried out the spirit of the occasion.

After the luncheon five-minute talks were given by Miss Alice Vignoe, of Canton; Miss Lucy Hall, of Ashtabula; Miss Anna B. Johnson, Mrs. Myron Selbert, of Columbus, and Mrs. Charlotte Reeve Canover, of Dayton.

Just before the opening of the afternoon session, the Allen county women held a conference, electing Mrs. Kent W. Hughes as their first president.

against the French positions on the Somme river today. The office communiqué states that the assaults broke down except at the assault where the German established themselves in a group of partially demolished houses.

The heaviest attacks were made in the sector between Ablancourt and Chaulnes woods and were preceded by a bombardment that lasted 75 hours.

BERLIN, via Sayville wireless, Nov. 15.—Bucharest, the capital of Rumania, has again been bombarded by German aviators, the war office announced today. The capture of 1823 more Rumanians in the Rumanian theatre of war is reported.

BERLIN, Nov. 15, via Sayville wireless.—Furious Russian attacks against German positions on the eastern side of the Naratvka river broke down, says a war office report today on eastern front operations.

ASTORS' COUNCIL CLOSING TONIGHT

Two Day Session Best Ever Held by the Organization.

The ministers' council meeting tonight at the Market Street Presbyterian church marks the close of one of the most important sessions ever held by the council. Some of the most celebrated speakers in the United States talked to the council during the meetings held in the past two days.

Dr. Herbert S. Johnson struck the keynote yesterday when he gave his idea of the new salvation. He told of the new idea that now predominates in regard to the manner of saving the soul.

"According to the doctrine advanced by old ministers the usual motto was, 'Save your soul and get to heaven,'" said Johnson. "Because of this theory persons used God as a bootjack in their attempt to gain their end."

This morning Charles Steitzle addressed the gathering dealing with the relation of the laboring men and the church. He stated better and closer relations between the church and the laborers would be a big factor toward making the latter interested in the work of the church. Tonight seats in the gallery will be free of charge.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE ELOPE

THE IDLER

Mrs. Bess Longworth of Lima was elected corresponding secretary of the State Association of Optometrists at the meeting held in Columbus on Monday.

William J. Wildermuth was awarded a judgment of $286.49 in his suit against Fred Shaw in common pleas court yesterday. The case resulted from injuries which Wildermuth alleged resulted when an automobile driven by the other struck him. He sued for $6,000.

The Shakespeare club will meet at the library tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The choir of the First Congregational church has arranged for a Thanksgiving Vesper service to be held on Sunday afternoon, November 26, at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. John T. Harris, 545 Hazel avenue, was the first to meet with misfortune during the icy and snowy weather. While walking on the pavement at the corner of McKibben and West streets, she accidentally slipped and fell, receiving severe bruises.

Mayor Simpson and Service Director Metheny returned this morning from a trip to Dayton, where they inspected the filtration plant.

RUSSIAN GENERAL DIES TRYING TO SEDUCE FOE.

SOFIA, Nov. 15.—Bulgarian war correspondents in the Dobrudja report that when the first Russian brigade met the Bulgarians north of Dobruja the Russian commander ordered his regiments to unfurl their flags, while the bands played the Bulgarian national anthem.

The Russians expected this friendly demonstration would prompt the Bulgarians not to fight, but King Ferdinand's regiments opened fire at once and the Russian general was killed by one of the first shells, as in his confidence he had exposed himself. The battle which followed lasted six hours and ended with a complete rout of the Russian forces.

800,000 NEW TURKISH TROOPS TO TAKE FIELD.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—A correspondent of the "Cologne Gazette" who returned from Constantinople recently, reports that Turkey has a new army of 800,000 men fully equipped and drilled. These large German officers during the last seven months and will be used to reinforce the Bulgarians in Macedonia and the Dobrudja, and the German and Austro-Hungarians in Galicia and Volhynia.

According to reports from Vienna the Turks are to replace the Austrian troops on the eastern front, to enable the Dual Monarchy to start a new and decisive offensive against Italy, which is to be crushed under all circumstances before peace negotiations are started.

SEASON FOR ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED IS OFFICIALLY OPENED

none of the state and national officers chosen a week ago are members of the G. O. P.

The lower house of congress is made up of the local republicans, but the congressman-elect is a democrat, so the only hope the local republicans have is Senator Harding, who is light to be able to land a small job for a friend by pulling some strings with Representative James R. Mann in case the present minority floor leader is entrusted with the speakers' gavel.

This leaves to the democrats a host of jobs at Columbus in the form of state deputyships, clerkships in various departments, and similar plum. Of course civil service is supposed to play an important role in many of the positions, but civil service laws have never been taken seriously in Ohio by either party. There are some places at Washington for local democrats but not many of them. No changes are expected in the present personnel of the federal payroll as represented here. The only way a democrat can pull down anything is to be "bright" with the congressman and the senator, and the acid test is the attitude of the aspirant before the primary nominations. It is not on record that any successful candidate ever favored a man who had him in the first trenches.

County officers all have deputies of some sort, either as assistants or as clerks. Here again enters the question of how a would-be deputy stood in the primary fight. Many of the court house jobs remain unchanged because the principals are elected to second terms, but the new officers will have control of no small amount of patronage.

In some cases the personal opinions of the appointers is the only prerequisite for appointment. In other cases, notably state jobs, the endorsement of some person close to the appointer or of some committee has weight in proportion to the good actually delivered. In still other cases the word of the party leaders is the only stepping stone or stumbling block.

Often it is easy to guess the appointments before hand, as the work of the prospective in behalf of the candidate may be expected to earn a reward. Promises of jobs, however, are barred in campaigns, and any candidate who makes a definite promise of preferment makes himself liable to prosecution under the corrupt practices act. On the other hand, such pledges are generally made in secret and both parties are interested in keeping it quiet, so the corrupt practices act hasn't all the teeth with which it should have been provided.

More expense accounts were turned in at the office of the board of elections this morning, ranging from nothing whatever to $227.35. Survivor-elect E. A. Miller expended the latter sum. E. V. Holmden, socialist candidate for probate judge received nothing and spent nothing.

Ira F. Clem put $125 into the clerkship fight, and J. A. Miller spent $125.50 for his race for county commissioner. W. W. Craik, for the same position, expended $113.19. Dr. V. H. Hay, coroner-elect, spent $49.10, and J. H. Judkins put only $1 into his battle for office.

J. W. Van Eman, as master guardian of the Guardians of Liberty, filed an account showing that $63 had been appropriated from the funds of the body and expended for printing, stamps and distribution of literature.

WOMEN ATTORNEYS ANGERED BY JUDGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A battery of feminine snorts and sniffs opened up on Judge Louis Gibbs for his declaration that "women lawyers make an unprofessional appeal to court-rooms and juries" through the turn of a silk clad ankle and the drooping of a tinsel eyelash. Plainly it is in some of them, the judge declared.

"We don't ask men to address us in skirts and ribbons, why should we address them in trousers?" indignantly asked Miss Anne Yerger, of Philadelphia.

It was the unanimous verdict of the sometimes fair six that the judge is wrong—all wrong.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR MONEY LOST SEVEN YEARS AGO

MARIONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 15.—Robert King has just received $50 from the United States treasury as reimbursement to him for the loss of that amount more than seven years ago.

While plowing corn in 1909 King lost his pocket book. It contained two $20 and one $10 bill.

Last spring J. H. Chamberlain, who now owns the land, found the purse. Secretly, anything was left of it but the metal. With a lump that on close inspection proved to have been paper money. It was sent to Washington where it was unfolded and placed in a safe. This was returned to Marionville for affidavits of both the owner and finder. That paper was supplied three months ago.

STANDARD OIL CO. GIVES 8-HOUR DAY

PUBLIC FORUM

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON. Booker T. Washington, born November 18, 1856, died November 14, 1915. On November 14, 1915, the world mourned the loss of the leader of the negro race, as well as a great educator. While it was fitting to mourn his loss, I believe it better to bring to mind and keep Washington before the public as he lived.

We are unfortunate in that we do not know exactly when he was born and inasmuch as he had the divine privilege of naming himself, we should take the honor upon ourselves to set a date to celebrate as the anniversary of his birth. Therefore, we recommend November 17, which date we expect to observe as the date of his birth at the Second Baptist church and there the citizens of Lima may give fitting expressions of appreciation of his contributions to humanity.

Let us not mourn, but celebrate and keep Washington's spirit and work alive; in other words celebrate the living Washington—his birth.

Washington taught that intelligence, industry and righteousness were the steps of progress for any race, more especially ours.

Washington was at all times an educator, not a politician, minister or lawyer. He taught that the negro, if deprived of all inspiration and hope of reward, would be deprived of one of the greatest incentives to intelligence, industry and righteousness; and on the other hand if encouraged in a sensible and conservative direction, he would grow year by year into contentedness and added usefulness.

Dr. Washington was courageous, sincere, honest and upright in his desire to benefit both the negro and citizens of the opposite race. His heart, soul and body was in his work and the world was richer when Booker T. Washington lived.

The report of the special survey of the negro made by the University of Pennsylvania expresses the negro problems as Washington saw it:

"The negro is here to stay. It is to the advantage of all, both black and white, that every negro should make the best of himself by every effort to rise to the standards of modern civilization and not to lower those standards in any degree. It is the duty of the white people to guard their civilization against debauchment by themselves or others, but in order to do that it is not necessary to hinder and retard efforts of earnest people to rise simply because they lack faith in the ability of that people to rise. With these duties in mind and with a spirit of self-help, mutual aid and co-operation, the two races should strive side by side to realize the ideals of the republic and make this truly a land of opportunity for all men."

Washington's ideals were truly great, and history should perpetuate his name, works, and ideals.

DR. J. C. BRADFIELD.

FLOAT STRANDED BOAT USED AS WAREHOUSE.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 15.—That the former German freighter Sesostris, ashore at Ocos, Guatemala, for 12 years, has been successfully floated, is the news received from Captain R. Ridley, astern of the British Columbia salvage tug Pilot. Three hydraulic pumps and 150 nautical miles were used to remove the grooves of sands from around the giant freighter which is said to be as seaworthy as upon the day she went ashore.

For many years the Sesostris was used as a coffee warehouse, while her dynamo plant was utilized to supply electricity to the residents of Ocos. The salvagers will clear more than $1,000,000 on their venture.

STARVED TO BE A LAWYER.

There is a true story of a struggle in education in the December American Magazine. It tells of a man, who ran an academy in Iberia, Missouri, and here is one example of how the students got along. The writer says:

"In Washington, at the office of the attorney general, I met another Iberia graduate. Once, during his time at Iberia, when a good lady had sent the professor $5 for the 'neediest student,' there had been considerable doubt as to which one, among so many needy, should be entitled to it. But an examination of the future lawyer's room settled all doubt. He was boarding himself in order to minimize expense, and the entire contents of his larder were found to be a bottle of cold water and a bag of corn meal."

FINDLAY—W. A. MILLER, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE ILLINOIS PIPE LINE COMPANY, HAS INVENTED A MACHINE FOR SCREWING PIPE TOGETHER.

The first one has been tested by the Buckeye Traction Ditcher Company here and successfully screwed cast iron pipe together after the joints had been laid in the trench.

PARENTS HELD FOR DEATH OF DAUGHTER FOUND IN THE RIVER

Members of Family State Girl Had Started for Florida.

PONTIAC, Ill., Nov. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Diemer and their daughter Magdalena are held under $10,000 bonds each today following the finding of the body of another daughter, Christine, in the Vermillion river here. The girl's neck was broken and the skull fractured. There was no water in her lungs.

Diemer, a venerable man of 72, is wealthy and prominent. He is a retired farmer and owns much land. Miss Diemer disappeared October 27. The family said she had gone to Florida to spend the winter. This week Mrs. Frank Haines, rowing across the river, found the body. It was identified by the father and the theory of suicide accepted until the coroner ordered an autopsy. Then it was revealed she had been murdered. The family said the girl last was seen the night of October 27 when she retired. When it was found she was gone next morning it was presumed she had taken an early train to Florida to avoid repetition of further protests against the trip. Denial of the family followed.

No charge has been placed against the Diemers, who are being held for bail for questioning. It developed today that the murdered girl controlled the family finances. When Coroner W. O. Myers visited the farm and asked for the dead girl's personal papers, the father gave him two of his own notes, one for $1,300 and the other for $1,200 both made out to Christine.

He handed over also a check for $50 which she had made payable to her father.

Stomach Troubles.

Persons who have stomach trouble are apt to become discouraged. They will see by the following that their chances of recovery are excellent. A. K. Williams, Independence, Va., tells of a remarkable cure that was effected in that vicinity. One of his customers was so badly afflicted with stomach trouble that he was sent to a hospital, but received little benefit and came home to die. Mr. Williams suggested that he try Chamberlain's Tablets which he did, and today he is a well man and weighs 175 pounds. Obtainable everywhere.

COURT NEWS

Emma Gause filed suit in common pleas court this morning against her husband, John Gause, asking that she be given a divorce. She charges the defendant with gross neglect of duty and wilfulness.

Marriage licenses were issued in probate court this morning to the following couples: Amos Feightner, 21, Lima, and Mary Roths, 20, Chillicothe; and William Hartman, 24, Elida, and Anna Powell, 19, Elida.

Elias Fett this morning filed suit in common pleas court against the L. E. & W. railroad, asking for $700 damages.

HELD FOR NON SUPPORT.

William Kennedy, arrested on a charge of non-support was last night brought before Justice of the Peace Hamilton and changed his plea from not guilty to guilty in a non-support case. Kennedy is charged with failure to provide for his two children, who are minors. He was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to six months in the Toledo workhouse, the latter being suspended on the condition that he pay $4 a week toward the support of his children and keep away from saloons.

SUBMARINES KNOWN IN SEVENTEENTH CENTURY

According to researches which have been made by a French professor, it would appear that submarines have almost as hoary a past as aeroplanes, which, as is well known, involved ideas which are centuries old. It appears that submarines were built as early as the beginning of the seventeenth century. The origin of the invention is older still. Aristotle tells how Alexander the Great made use of submarines during the siege of Tyre, more than three hundred years before Christ.

A Dutchman named Cornelius Van Drebbel, who lived in 1620, with a submarine that held twelve oarsmen and some passengers, among whom was King James I.

Previous to this, in 1534, a monk suggested the idea that a ship be constructed of metal so as to be water-tight and able to resist the pressure of water. A submarine was constructed according to the monk's idea and was shown to be practicable to a certain degree.

In 1527 a ship with twenty cannon, eighty sailors and many bags of money on board blew up and sank in the port of Dieppe. Three years later a Frenchman, Jean Barbe, called Pradine, built, according to the old monk's ideas, a submarine with which he promised to rescue the bags of gold and silver from the wreck, and possibly some pieces of artillery.

The great Pascal, then a little boy, was an eyewitness to the experiments of Pradine, which were carried on till 1650 with ultimate success.—London Tit-Bits.

WORK YOU ENJOY LESS TRYING.

There is a helpful article in the December American Magazine about getting tired and resting up. The writer says:

"The practical application of my illustration is this: If you have a job you really like, a job which commands your whole soul, you will work at it with less fatigue than if you are dissatisfied with your lot. This is why the clock watcher, the chap who works only because he must work, is usually more tired at the day's end than the fellow clerk who has a real interest in what he is doing."

"Moreover, if circumstances have forced you into work which is not congenial, you will find that efficiency can be aided and fatigue staved off if you will let your mind dwell on those features of the work which you like best."

CLEVELAND — Wilbur Norton, 21, today was recovering in Huron road hospital from stomach ache. He swallowed an assortment of buttons yesterday in county jail. Deputy Sheriff Hanratty says it was an attempt at suicide. So does Norton.

WARREN—Word received here from France by Paul J. Mereste, states that his father John Demereste, French consul general at Constanza and one of the highest judges in the French supreme court, was killed by a German Zeppelin bomb when the central powers were attacking that port on the Black sea.

LIMA MISSIONARY UNION HOLDS ITS ANNUAL SESSION

The Lima Woman's Missionary union yesterday, at the Central Church of Christ, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. E. T. Fenwick; vice president, Mrs. Harry Thomas; secretary, Mrs. A. D. Fitz; and treasurer, Mrs. S. G. Kelley. The retiring officers are: President, Mrs. W. E. Penney; vice president, Mrs. Alice Fitz; treasurer, Mrs. William Wilson, and secretary, Mrs. Frank Boone.

Frederick A. Agar of Boston, addressed the session on "The Humor, Pathos and Heroism of Missions". He said:

"The women of this country last year spent $50,000,000 for powder and cosmetics. The total contributions for all the Protestant churches last year were about $40,000,000. Is that heroic giving?"

"Seventy per cent of the women of the nation are doing nothing for the church. The women's work in the church is represented by the other thirty per cent."

"Church going pays in health dividends because it means cleaner living. Ministers are the safest risks in life insurance companies have. The lowest rates are offered to them. The average death rate of church members in America is ten in a thousand. Death rates in the nation's cities varies between twelve and sixteen in a thousand. Doesn't that show that church going pays?"

BOOTLEGGER FINED $200 AND COSTS

The case of Harry Allen, who was arrested on a charge of bootlegging, was tried in Justice of the Peace Hamilton's court last evening and was found guilty of the charge. He was fined $200 and costs, and will be confined in the Toledo workhouse until the fine and costs are paid. Hamilton has not as yet decided whether he will suspend this sentence or make the prisoner work it out. Allen was arrested Sunday evening by police with the aid of State Liquor License Inspector Galaway.

MORAL TURPITUDE WASN'T INVOLVED IN THIS MURDER

Slayer of a Galician Governor
Will Now Become an American Citizen.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—How the United States preserves its right of asylum for political refugees from Europe and other countries in the world is shown by the work of the Department of Labor. If it had not been for this department, Miroslav Sichinsky, one of the most promising students of Columbia University, would be in a Galician grave today, and the Chinese executioner would have wreaked his worst on one of Yuan Shi Kai's bitterest opponents. The files of the department are full of such instances.

Young Sichinsky was a Socialist, an Austro-Hungarian by nationality and a Ruthenian by race. He lived in Galicia, where the lower classes were shamefully oppressed by the Polish landlords and governors. A revolt from this authority had been in secret progress for some time, and Count Andrew Potitzky, governor of the province, was one of the main enemies of the insurgents. Gendarmes, acting under his orders, shot down large numbers of the Ruthenian peasantry, which still further inflamed the minds of the revolutionists.

Miroslav Sichinsky participated actively in the agitation, speaking, writing, plotting. He became a leader in a Ukrainian club, which eventually decided that some drastic action in the case was necessary to improve living conditions in Galicia. The suggested action was the murder—they called it "removal" of the cruel governor. The young socialist was appointed to this task by his club members. He claimed to have accepted the task cheerfully, even joyfully, fully expecting to be executed if he succeeded.

Death Sentence Commuted.
He made an appointment to meet the governor on the pretext that he was an applicant for a post in a school. Armed with an automatic, he walked into the governor's room till he was within two paces of the doomed man. Then he opened fire, several of the shots taking effect and causing the death of the governor within an hour.

The assassin was arrested and placed in jail. He made no defense in trial court, but the case was taken to a higher court, on the pretext that his mind was affected. The Austrian government seems to have been unwilling to execute him, as the preponderant sentiment at the death of the governor had been joy, and young Sichinsky's execution would have inflamed them violently.

The result of the trials was that the prisoner was sentenced to death; this was afterward commuted to 20 years imprisonment. The convicted youth went to the penitentiary, but with the connivance of a friendly guard made his escape and fled to Sweden. He attended one of the Swedish universities until the outbreak of the European war, and then went back to his country to offer his services. These were not accepted, but the government, on hearing of his return, requested him to leave the country rather than to force them to rearrest him under his

MORGENTHAU MAY BECOME SECRETARY OF TREASURY

It is said that several changes in President Wilson's cabinet may take place when the president begins his second term next March. It is said that William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, will resign voluntarily to resume his business. Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, and who aided greatly in President Wilson's re-election, may succeed him. Rumor also has it that Secretary Lansing will retire because of ill health, and that Frank L. Polk, solicitor of the state department, will become secretary of state.

unexpired sentence. This he did, coming to the United States.

Writing a Book.
He is now making his living writing for the Ruthenian papers, is writing a book and is a student at Columbia University. When he first decided to attend the university he determined to be cleared of any cloud on his name and went to several parties to get such clearance. He was told that the United States authorities would not arrest him unless his extradition was demanded by Austria-Hungary. This had not been done.

Sichinsky was advised to go to the Ellis Island authorities and see what action they would take in the matter. He put the case up to them and they found that a strict reading of the law made his entry into this country illegal. To send him back to Austria was to send him back to 20 years of prison. His government at home was perfectly content to have him remain in this country, and his friends were urging him to retain his incognito, but he wished to have his name cleared and demanded that the matter be taken up with the department. The law was clear, if interpreted literally. As a murderer he was subject to exclusion from this country.

However, on the exact face of the matter it was necessary for the New York immigration authorities to recommend to the secretary of labor that a warrant be issued for Sichinsky's deportation. It was within the power of the secretary to exercise discretionary powers, which he did.

Secretary Post's Ruling.
The case came up before Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, who has to consider all such cases. Secretary Post was struck by the case and the way in which a slight blunder on the part of the authorities could easily send a man to prison in a land where the authorities evidently did not desire him to be in prison. He exercised his action, and countermanded the action of the New York authorities, under Section 2 of the Immigration Laws, which provides:

"That nothing in this act shall exclude, if otherwise admissible, persons convicted of an offense purely political, not involving moral turpitude."
So now Miroslav Sichinsky can attend universities here without fear of deportation to his own country, and the unwilling prisoner awaiting him there.

MONEY HE "MADE" HAD FOOLED MANY EXPERT CASHIERS

H. R. Wilken is Now in a California Jail Awaiting Trial.

'Federal Reserve' Note, His Latest Masterpiece, Still in Circulation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—His career ended at 29, H. R. Wilken today faces a penitentiary sentence of anywhere up to 15 years when he is tried at San Francisco for counterfeiting. But, while he may drop out for a time, he will have left behind him a lot of the most nearly perfect counterfeit: $1, $5 and $10 bills perfect counterfeits. At least one perfect counterfeit of $1, $5 and $10 bills perfect counterfeits. At least one perfect counterfeit of $1, $5 and $10 bills perfect counterfeits.

Wilken was arrested at Santa Cruz, Calif., by secret service men, who claim to have obtained a confession during a subsequent trip to San Francisco, where he is held for trial. When he landed in jail secret service men, from Chief Flynn down to the newest operative, heaved long, deep sighs of relief.

Wilken is a young man. Where he started the police do not know. The first time the secret service ever heard of him was when particularly excellent counterfeit bills began coming to the treasury from banks all over the country, which had accepted them as genuine. The chase for their manufacturer started. It led the secret service throughout the country several times and ended in Santa Cruz.

Trail of Counterfeits.
For some years Wilken dived gayly about from town to town, the service says, leaving in his trail all sorts of counterfeit bills. The first charged to him were $1 bills, made of two sheets of paper pasted together, with the familiar strands of silk in between. Lots of the bills were found, and many worthy citizens who tried to use them found their way into police stations to undergo questioning. But there never was a trace of the owner.

While Wilken's masterpieces—alleged—was a $10 federal reserve note, warnings regarding which were distributed by the secret service a few weeks before his arrest, there were a lot more bills attributed to him which are preserved by the secret service as works of art.

The secret service is authority for this story about one of them. A Binghamton, N. Y., bank one day several years ago received a $1 bill about which there was some question—apparently after it had been accepted as genuine. No other bill of the series being in the bank, a runner was sent to a neighborhood bank for a sample. He brought it back. It compared exactly with the questioned bill. Then some one investigated bill No. 2. It also was counterfeit.

Look Out for Buffalo Five.

One of Wilken's bills—a counterfeit of the "Buffalo" $5 treasury note—is regarded by many experts as one of the best—or worst—counterfeits ever "put over." One official who discussed it after Wilken's arrest asked that a warning be sent all banks to watch for specimens of it, which, it is feared, will be "floaters"—exceptionally well made counterfeits that circulate long after the maker has been arrested—going under through the country until they wear out. These bills are declared to be in nearly every large city in the country. As to paper and engraving, they match almost perfectly a genuine bill—and amateurs have been unable to detect them even when told they are counterfeit. But one defect resulted in its discovery. In the headpiece of the Indian there are a number of tiny fine feathers in the case of genuine bills. In the counterfeit these are missing, and there is a white space. But few persons have stopped to examine it, fewer still have noticed the lack of feathers, and still less have known by their absence that the bill is counterfeit. It has been accepted, as have other bills, at banks as genuine—and they probably will continue to be accepted.

Banks now are watching for Wilken's last alleged bill, the $10 federal reserve. That is another bill said to be one of the best out.

After a Long Chase.
Wilken was caught after years of search, during which it is declared he circulated counterfeit bills of the face value of over $100,000. And if he hadn't stayed at the little town of Santa Cruz, where persons who spend one type of bill are easily found, he might not have been arrested. In larger cities the bills already had been discovered days or weeks after they had been dumped on the town.

It is believed by many that Wilken has the secret of making the "distinctive" paper used by the government for its notes. Some of his bills are believed to have been raised from smaller ones, but many of them, almost impossible to detect, bear the appearance of having been made from "distinctive" paper of unauthorized manufacture. Such bills are expensive to make. But, as in the case of many counterfeit gold coins, sometimes worth $3.50 where $5 is the represented value, there is a margin of "profit."

Wilken himself, from his photographs, is highly artistic. He looks like an Italian, with big dark eyes, an exceptionally high and broad forehead, a small black mustache over a small mouth, and dark features. Altogether he bears a really good resemblance to portraits of Poe. If the secret service stories are accurate, he drove, after his own fashion, almost as good a pen.

According to the report of Secretary Clarke of the Lima Chamber of Commerce of the work accomplished by the organization during the past four years, four new factories have been induced to move to this city and several of them have already taken their quarters here.

It is estimated that the payrolls of the four new factories will amount to about $200,000 annually. The new concerns are: The Steiner Brothers, Lewis Brothers, Pandora Manufacturing company, and the enlargement of the Buckeye Machine company.

William Byron Ring, who some time ago escaped from the Lima state insane hospital, will probably be returned to that institution from Cincinnati, where he is being held, on a charge of writing letters to President Wilson. He was arrested by federal authorities. Ring escaped from the grounds of the hospital while doing work about a year ago.

YOUNG RUSSIAN TROOPS FIGHT WITHOUT TRIFLES.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Dr. F. Wertheimer, a war correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung on the eastern front, reports that many of the Russian prisoners taken in the recent battles in the Carpathian mountains are 17 and 18 years old. The youthful soldiers belong to the class of recruits of 1919 and received only a few weeks of military training before they were sent to the front. Some of their detachments had no rifles and tried to storm Austro-German positions with bayonets fastened to shot-poles.

THE NEXT HOUSE
Indications are now that the lower house of the Sixty-fifth congress will be controlled by the Republicans, with only a slight margin in their favor. Fortunately for the progressive legislation of the last four years, the president and the senate are of the opposite political faith and can prevent any repealing measures aimed at the destruction of the federal reserve act, the child labor measure, the Adamson bill, the rural credits legislation and the kindred monuments erected by the Sixty-third and Sixty-fourth congresses, but unless the progressive element in the G. O. P. side of the lower house votes with the Democrats the speaker will be James R. Mann of Illinois instead of John Beauchamp Clark of Missouri. It is to be hoped that Champ will retain the gavel.

Mann is a reactionary of the narrow school which produced Cannon and Reed. His record during the last session proved that. He voted for the McInerney resolution and against the federal armor plate plant, two typical examples of his opposition to progress in legislation. He opposed practically all of the measures championed by the Wilson administration, his only excuse being that he was the floor leader of the minority.

The measure of Mann can be taken without elevating him to the speaker's desk. His tendencies in political thought are too well known to justify conjecture, and unless the United States desires a return to the good old days of Seneca E. Payne, Joe Cannon and the pork-barrel, Mann should not be named for speaker of the house.

Fortunately there is a small number of members who are remnants of the Progressive party of four years ago, still smarting under the sting of the colossal sell-out of Chicago last June. Their votes will decide the speakership, the control of the committees and the degree of enlightenment of the Sixty-fifth house. Let us hope that that will not be favorably inclined toward the selection of James R. Mann of Illinois for head of the congressional organization. It might as well be Cannon himself.

DECENTRALIZATION
In the return of the Democratic party to power in Ohio, with New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois all strongly Republican in the recent election, appears a phenomenon which the political sagas of Eastern papers are at a loss to solve. Their conjectures range from the inefficiency of the G. O. P. state committee to the lack of sense in the voters at large, as the political faith of the writers may vary, but the figures are getting minute examination throughout the nation.

In Ohio President Wilson was much stronger than his ticket, as was anticipated. But Senator Pomerehne, given up by many of the Democratic leaders as a forlorn hope, got about eight times as large a plurality as Governor Cox. Evidently the national aspect of the situation appealed to many voters, although Herrick's huge expense account in the primary battle was undoubtedly a factor in the plurality of 48,000 rolled up by the Canton statesman. But while the Adams schoolmaster Willis was defeated by Cox by a small lead, the entire state Democratic ticket was elected by larger majorities than Cox's, and both branches of the legislature show safe working majorities for the Democratic party.

Here is the rebuke for the Willis administration. Every member of his official household was defeated, including the docile legislature which passed his decentralization measures. Not one of his subordinates—Turner, Hildebrandt, Archer or Arnold—survived the slaughter. Willis himself ran far better than his supporters, but his mistakes have generally been accepted as made in good faith even if in poor judgment. But Ohio has shown emphatically that she will have no more of the decentralizer.

The vindication of Governor Cox is not without precedent. He is the third Ohio executive to be returned to power after a lapse of a term or more. He has been armed with a complete state ticket and majorities in both houses, so his low plurality cannot be interpreted as a sign of reluctance on the part of the voters of the state to re-elect him. If Cox was feared by Ohio the state would have retained the G. O. P. house and senate. The Dayton man can rest assured that the state is with him in wrecking the legislative juggernaut which the Adams man happily christened the decentralizer. Ohio has no more use for it.

HUGHES REFUSES
Nothing is more characteristic of a judicial mind than the tendency to withhold judgment until the evidence is all entered upon the record. It is only logical that Charles Evans Hughes should decline to concede his defeat until he has some official notice thereof. But despite this margin of logical leeway it begins to appear that the former justice is beginning to win the title of "crab" by withholding his congratulations after the hopelessness of his case is conceded by everyone save himself and his faithful Willows.

If there were any reason to believe that the official counts in California and Minnesota would swing the election to the New York man, the delay on Hughes' part would be admitted as justifiable, but the only mistakes thus far unearthed have merely served to increase the lead of the president. The longer the official tellers canvass the vote, the smaller becomes the chance of Hughes getting any satisfaction out of it. Meanwhile the election bells remain unpaid and the winners are growing impatient.

Hughes must know that he cannot now be elected—if he doesn't he is hopelessly out of touch with the situation. If he had "kicked in" with a message of congratulation his stock would be higher with the assayers of popularity. Congressman J. Ed Russell is by far a better sport than the man who headed his ticket, for as soon as he knew his term would expire March 1 the Sidney man sent Congressmen-elect Ben Welby a gracious letter offering to do all he could to aid the Lima attorney in getting started off without trouble. Hughes could make many friends by following this example, conceding his defeat with good grace and ending the useless red tape which distracts the nation's attention from other matters of more import.

Martin W. Littleton's new name for Oyster Bay will stand this time: it's "Blue Point."

RUSSIANS TAKING UP WORK OF EDUCATING SIBERIAN ESKIMOS
Alaskan Natives Under American Training, Show Great Advancement.

Soap is Greatest Factor in Civilizing Untutored Arctic Denizens.

By Frederic J. Hawklin.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—The news that the Russian government is establishing schools for its Eskimo population on the Siberian coast has been a great encouragement to Americans engaged in educating the Eskimos of Alaska. During the past few years the question has often been raised as to whether it was worth while to educate the Eskimo. "Why don't you let them alone? They are happy and were able to get along before you began to change their mode of life," has often been objected by critics. Now the answer to the question is found in Russia. The Siberian Eskimo has been left alone, and as a result he is far below the standard of the Alaskan Eskimo who has been educated.

Teaching the Eskimo of Alaska is a profession all in itself which cannot be classed under any specific head. You have to be a plumber, a farmer, a cook, a dressmaker, a builder, a doctor, a seaman and a politician, as well as an educator, in order to qualify for the part. The bureau of education does not require a man to pass any special examination when applying for a job as Eskimo-teacher, which is diplomatic, for no one would ever pass. It is not until a man is thrown on his own resources miles away from civilization with the job of introducing social, sanitary, educational and economic reforms among the Eskimos, that he realizes his own versatile talents and resources and ability.

The first school for Eskimos in Alaska was established as early as 1886 at the little village of Wrangell. The great gold rush had just commenced; every steamer to the north carried hundreds of prospectors, and the United States government was beginning to worry about the Eskimo's future under the new conditions. Now there are 77 Eskimo schools in Alaska, with an enrollment of 3,543 Eskimos, 109 teachers, 11 physicians, 9 nurses and 3 hospital attendants. The native villages are divided up into five districts there is a school superintendent, who is the direct representative of the bureau of education in Washington and whose business it is to make the rounds of the villages at least once a year inspecting the school work and settling any differences that may have arisen between natives and teachers.

During the winter months, the majority of the school villages are shut off from communication with the rest of the world by snow; hence, there is no way of obtaining emergency supplies except by the uncertain and tedious dog-sled which charges enormous freight rates. If the roof of the school house leaks, it is up to the teacher to see that it is fixed, with the materials he has at hand. If he would have green vegetables in the spring, he must keep an indoor garden or greenhouse. If an epidemic of measles or infantile paralysis breaks out among the natives, he must see that they are cared for and that the village is fumigated. The Eskimo girl must be taught to sew and cook; the Eskimo man must be initiated into the mysteries of business methods; the reindeer herds must occasionally be supervised; cooperative stores must be established and managed, and the principles of local government demonstrated.

circulation of air through the house. The dwellings were heated by three large lamps that were sufficient to keep the temperature at 70. Now, the Eskimo builds his house in poor imitation of the white man's dwelling, which can not be heated by the same oil lamps or even adequately by stoves from stove.

But if civilization has brought a new house to the Eskimo, it has also brought him the bath. In all the village schools now there is a public bath, where the children bathe at least once a week, and where the parents also come in great numbers. The American bath is popular.

It is unquestionably true that civilization has been bad for the Eskimo in some ways, just as it has not been altogether beneficial to the white man. The white man was doubtless a much better specimen physically than his twentieth century descendant, but there has been a considerable brain-development in the interval. And so it is with the Eskimo. Alaska is rapidly opening up, the Eskimos are growing and the white man is steadily pushing northward. There will eventually come a time when the Eskimo will have to meet him in open competition, and it is to prepare the little brown man for this moment that the Bureau of Education is sending educators, economists and medical men to the far villages of Alaska.

SUPER-ZEPPELIN MORE BULKY THAN AN OCEAN LINER

Of Aluminum, is 680 ft.
Long and 72 ft. Beam;
Weights 50 Tons.

British Experts Have Estimated Cost of Construction at $1,250,000.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—It was not long after the battle with Zeppelins on September 23 before the British service experts discovered that the airship brought down in flames represented the latest type of enemy raiders—the super-Zeppelin—as superior in size, engine power, armament and bomb-carrying capacity over the first Zeppelins as the latest big U boats are over the original little submarines.

The deductions of the experts have shown that Germany's super-Zeppelin has engines aggregating 1,440 horse power, as against 540 horse power in the original naval Zeppelin. It is 680 feet long and 72 feet in diameter—actually larger in bulk than a giant ocean liner of the type of the Lusitania, though of infinitely less weight, of course. The enormous envelope, although destroyed in the fire that lunged the Zeppelin down to wreck in Essex, has been estimated from the aluminum and steel and copper wire structural work that remains to have been of a capacity to store 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas—three times as much as the capacity of the earlier Zeppelins, then supposed to be the last word in air monsters.

Larger Than Lusitania. What inspired admiration and wonder in the minds of all who visited the wreck was the incredible delicacy of the workmanship that created something larger than the Lusitania to float in the air, and which against the tens of thousands of tons weight of the Lusitania, with engines, guns, bombs and all, the super-Zeppelin is figured as weighing only fifty tons. The whole aluminum and wire structure weighed only, the experts report, nine tons.

An English reporter who visited the wreck writes:

"The external of the airship, her outer fabric and gas bags, were destroyed, but all the essentials remain, all the elaborate contrivances of attack, all the gear for operating the engines, all the tackle for manœuvring the ship.

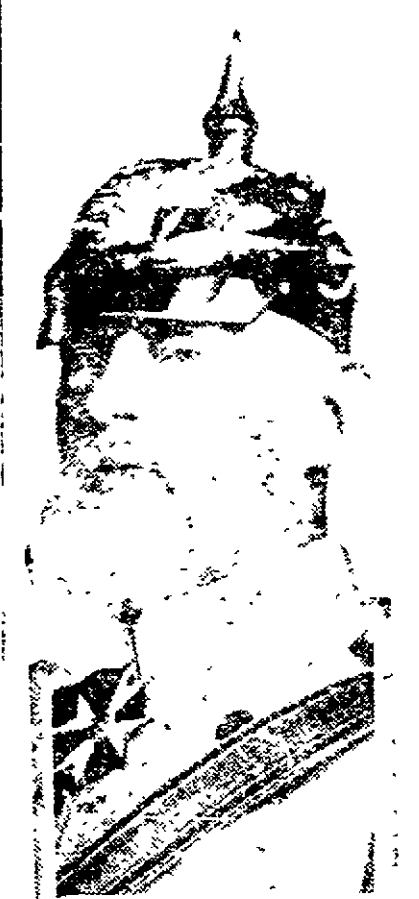

"The skeleton of the monster is not visible until you draw very close to it. It is a strange, spidery affair of delicate trellis work in silvery metal, with no sheen and no tinkle but a sepulchral rustle. The girders are of almost inconceivable lightness. What looks a prodigiously bulky portion of the framework can be lifted with one hand. Instead of weighing a hundredweight, it is also a few pounds. The whole structure seems like a device from another world and another age."

The Four Gondolas. Swung under the huge gas envelope were four gondola shaped compartments, hooded, with apertures for the use of the navigators and gunners and observers—one gondola at the Zeppelin's nose, two depending side by side in the centre, and the third and largest gondola—about thirty feet in length—aft. Her six engines distributed among the U boats are over the original little submarines.

The forward gondola is that used in the fire that lunged the Zeppelin down to wreck in Essex, has been estimated from the aluminum and steel and copper wire structural work that remains to have been of a capacity to store 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas—three times as much as the capacity of the earlier Zeppelins, then supposed to be the last word in air monsters.

BAVARIAN PRINCE MAY BECOME KING OF POLAND.

PRINCE LEOPOLD OF BAVARIA

GENEVA, Nov. 15.—Simultaneously with the proclamation in Warsaw and Lublin of the granting of political freedom to Poland and the establishment of a Polish kingdom, it was reported here that Prince Leopold of Bavaria, commander of the Teutonic forces in Russia, may ascend the ancient throne of the Poles.

It was said that the emperor of Austria wishes to place an Austrian prince upon the Polish throne, but that the kaiser held out for a German, with the result that Prince Leopold was finally settled upon. In the meantime, pending the placing of a king upon the throne, General von Boser, who for a time was military governor of Belgium, will remain as governor-general of Poland.

to be withdrawn before the bomb could fall.

One of Six Engines. Astern of the captain's cabin in the same gondola was a little room, 6 feet by 4 feet, used by the wireless operator and containing the wireless instruments, which were supplied with current from six dynamos, one attached to each engine, thus leaving nothing to chance. Astern of the wireless room, again, still in the same gondola and isolated from the wireless room by an air space of about an inch, were one of the six engines and a dynamo, also two machine guns of ordinary German calibre, on tripod mountings of amazing lightness.

The engine is still in good working order. It is of Maybach (Mercedes) type and develops 240 horse power. One of the great surprises of this airship is that immediately behind the forward gondola and driven by its engine is a propeller amidships underneath the ship. There was nothing of the kind in the Zeppelins brought down in France and at Salonica. It is one of the distinctive features of the super-Zeppelin.

The "Cat Walk". To pass from the gondola down the ship one had to climb through a kind of trapdoor framed in aluminum into the "cat walk", a perilous ly narrow gangway only nine inches wide that runs the whole length of the keel. On the aluminum girder framings the thinnest of planking was laid. Some part of it has survived the fire and could be very plainly seen. Passing down this "cat walk" inside the walls of thin cotton fabric, grayish white, one reached the compartment containing bombs. Here hung the missiles on six hooks, and below them was the sliding shutter. In the "cat walk" was another interesting find—a lavatory with fittings of fairly light brass.

Near the center of the ship, progressing from bow to stern, were suspended two other gondolas. These hung side by side, spaced out a little on either beam. They are of much smaller size, only eighteen feet long, and each contains one Maybach 240 horse power engine, one dynamo and one machine gun. In the amidships gondolas were near little aluminum cupboards, which at the time of the capture contained comestibles. They were of good design and took little space. The last and fourth gondola was placed astern in the center line and was of large size, about thirty feet long. It contained two machine guns and three engines, all of Maybach type and 240 horse power, each driving one dynamo and propeller. Two of these propellers were stayed out on either beam of the airship; the third was at the stern, about thirty feet in from the end of the ship. A similar propeller was observed in the Zeppelin brought down by the French at Revin.

The gas was contained in twenty-four balloons, each connected by a valve with a central gas supply pipe. The balloons were burned, but enough of the fabric remains to show that it was of a thin silk or cotton, water and gas proof. They were separated, not as some have supposed by sheet aluminum bulkheads, but by spider webs of wire, a web between each pair of balloons.

Aluminum Propeller Shaft.

An aluminum propeller shaft found three miles from where the framework of the Zeppelin fell and petrol tanks plainly showing marks of being struck account for the starting of her trouble which ended in her gas bag being set afire. Date-marks on these tanks and other parts of the structure indicate that this surely was of the latest super-Zeppelin type, for they carried the date "July 14, 1916".

Forward and at the stern stop of the huge envelope were platforms on which were mounted three quick firing guns for repelling attack from above, and there was a smoke-producing apparatus by which the airship could eject clouds for its own concealment.

Enough was left of the gas bag to show it was made of a paper-thin, but very tough, untearable, twill-like material.

It is estimated that the new super-Zeppelins cost the German government at least $1,250,000 apiece.

There is danger of its leading to broncho pneumonia, and for this reason it is always best to go to bed and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed until well along towards recovery. Mrs. Charles E. Woodard, Sandy Creek, N. Y., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured me of bronchitis last fall. In a week's time I was well." Obtainable everywhere. m-w-f

At a meeting of the school board last evening, the resignation of Miss Ellen Boyer, English teacher, was accepted. The vacancy will be filled by Miss MacNollan, of the Van Wert high school. Miss Boyer resigned to accept a position in the public schools, of Bucyrus.

JAPANESE HOKKU POEMS.

"THE finest poems in the world," is the description Yone Noguchi gives to the Japanese Hokku poems of seventeen syllables. Hokku means a single utterance or the utterance of a single verse, and in the course of a delightful essay on the Hokku poetry, Mr. Noguchi says:

"Take the following poem by Buson:

"Katamari ni Muchitsu time no aruji kana."
(The lump of clay He beats with a stick,— He, the master of the plum orchard.)

"There might be many people, I believe, who will wonder where in the world poetry will come in from a piece of clay beaten by a stick. But be patient, my friends. This is quite an excellent Hokku poem; here we have a scene of some retired owner of a plum-orchard now in a stroll (and day's at the morn; morning's at seven; perhaps, as in Robert Browning's song in 'Pippa Passes'), who beats a lump of clay playfully while walking leisurely. And go again to the lines of the great Browning:

"God's in His Heaven— All's right with the world."

Do you still call the above Hokku nonsense? Take one more poem by Buson in the following:

"Suzushisa ya Kanewo hanaruru Kanewo kaze."
(Oh, how cool— The sound of the bell That leaves the bell itself.)

"Some little amplification would perhaps help in understanding the beauty of the above poem; but if your ears can differentiate the sounds of a bell in the daytime and during the night, it is certainly futile to dwell on it."

"And take still one more poem:

"Hani no yoru Yoi akobono no Sono Nakani."
(The night of the spring— Oh, between the eve And the dawn.)

"The old Chinese poets sang on the spring eve, prize it above many thousand pounds in gold, while the Japanese Uta poets of ancient days admired the purple-colored dawn of spring; in the opening passages of Sei Shonagans Makura Zushii or Pillow Sketches we have the following: 'In Spring', to use Aston's translation, 'I love to watch the dawn grow gradually white and whiter, till a faint rosy tinge crowns the mountain crest, while slender streaks of purple cloud extend themselves above.' Such is the beauty of a spring dawn. Now, Buson is pleased to introduce the night of the spring which should be beautiful without questioning, since it lies between those two beautiful things, the eve and the dawn; and we are three glad with the Buson's Hokku."

Fashion Still Faithful To Simple Lines

Some Hints on the Latest Dress Trimmings. New Uses for Old Shawls.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Fashion has not swerved in the least from the simplicity that has been a mark with which the season opened. Now, as then, most frocks depend on the beauty of the material and simplicity of line for their success rather than on very elaborate trimmings. There was a time when the trimmings for a dress cost as much,

One-Piece Frocks of Two Materials Need Hardly Any Trimming.

If not more, than the material, to the amazement especially of the woman who wanted to be economical; but now it is the very contrary. A dress needs very little more than a touch of embroidery, or perhaps a contrasting collar, to make it as smart as fashion demands. The ingenious woman, with very little effort and practically no extra cost, can add a great deal of style to her dress by a simple silk or wool yarn. A narrow banding of fur added to a collar or the edges of sleeves also gives a distinctive touch to any dress.

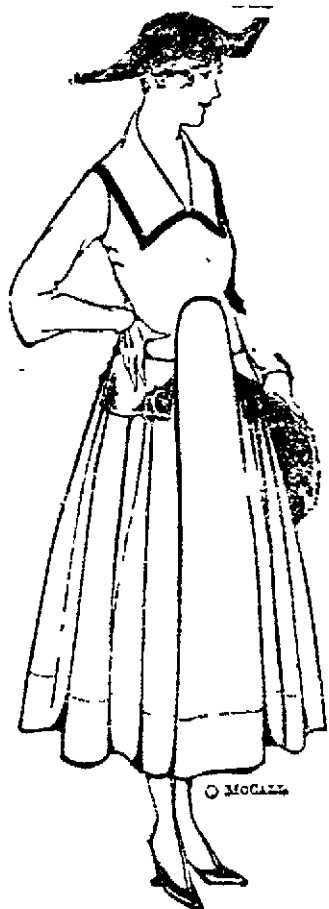

Another means by which fashion eliminates the need for trimming is in the use of two materials for fashioning a dress. It may be two contrasting shades of the same material or two different materials in the same tone that are used. Both effects are very charming and highly popular.

The pretty one-piece dress sketched here may be developed in two shades of satin, or in satin and broadcloth. The upper collar should be of Georgette finished with picot edging, and the lower one of the same materials used for the pleated section of the skirt. The new sleeve, surmounting out to a point below the elbow, is outlined with a row of tiny buttons, and the lower edge is finished with braid.

The other illustration shows a stylish model which has met with great success. The design, which breathes simple elegance, is distinctly appropriate for the formal dress that every woman finds it necessary to have at least one of. Such frocks this season are fashioned of beautiful chiffon, velvets, tulle, lustrous satin, or soft woolen materials with a sheen, like duvetyn, velours and broadcloth. The snug bodice, fitted with soft pleats at the underarm, is buttoned down the back, a feature which is surely gaining favor this season. The ubiquitous pockets are here represented in the form of an extension of the bodice, and they are decorated with colored embroidery in a very conventional design.

The Use of Paisley Shawls. Something very new and distinctly attractive in the line of trimmings is the use of Paisley shawls, or Orient silks giving this effect. At all the social gatherings this touch has been very prominent and proved exceedingly popular. The genuine Paisley shawl has been used by those fortunate enough to possess one of these rare old treasures or those who are able to pay the price asked for them. Those, however, who would think twice before cutting up a valuable shawl handed down from previous generations, will find substitutes in the new silks specially designed to give this effect. The Paisley shawl is employed in many ways, not only for trimming dresses, but for hats, too. A very handsome dress was seen recently in which the upper part was made of a Paisley shawl and the skirt and sleeves of broadcloth. In the collection of Paris importations there was a striking set of cape collar, turban and muff of Paisley combined with fur. This combination was also seen on the collar of a dress, the fur being used to edge the Paisley collar. Another use to which the Paisley shawl has been put is the making of pretty, fancy handbags, and it is also used very effectively by milliners.

Dainty Neckwear. Feminine fancy has turned again to dainty neckwear in the form of jabots and collars of real lace, embroidered nets and fine batiste with hand-embroidered decorations. A smartly dressed woman on Fifth avenue wore a beautiful jabot of real lace over the front of her dark-green tailored broadcloth suit, which had a deep sailor collar of fur.

In such sheer materials as Georgette, silk nets, chiffons, and very fine batiste, collars and jabots are just as dainty as possible. Beads, silver and gold thread embroideries and silk or wool fringes are some of the most popular decorations for them.

The flat rolling collar of satin, flannel or broadcloth is still holding its own, especially for wear with one-piece frocks. For the most part, these collars are plain. The edges of some are pinked or bound with braid, and others are finished with the popular silk or wool fringes.

Pretty Romance Grows Out of Trade at Coupon Counter of Lima Store.

"How many coupons is this worth?" said a clean cut young man as he pointed at an article in the case of the coupon department of the United Cigar store, about a month ago. "That calls for 100 coupons," was the smiling reply of the young lady in charge of the department.

The date was cast. The visits to the store became more frequent, but not from a business standpoint. Yesterday the two became partners for life.

The principals in the marriage were Leo Focht and Margaret Thompson. The wedding took place at 214 West High street, Rev. E. A. Bay officiating.

THE FAUROT PICTURES. The new comedy of "Katinka" is a story of a young girl who is forced into marriage with an elderly statesman, much to her distaste. On the night of her wedding she is spirited away by her lover, Ivan, who has learned that Boris already has a wife, supposed to be "somewhere in Turkey." The two, with an American friend named Hopper, set out to discover this Mrs. Boris and the play deals with the laughable incidents of the search.

FAUROT—"KATINKA"

With a big Broadway cast and a special orchestra, Arthur Hammerstein's sensational musical success, "Katinka," which has just closed a year's run in New York, will be presented at the Faurot opera house on Thursday night. The same elaborate stage settings, which surprised in gorgeousness and artistic blending anything displayed in the metropolis of American theatricals last winter, will be displayed here, and the rich gowns of the female principals and chorus promise a revelation to the most acute followers of prevailing styles in feminine costume.

"Katinka" is the work of Otto Hauerbach and Rudolph Friml, who have already given to the world of theatergoers the climactic triumphs of the two preceding seasons, "The Firefly" and "High Jinks." Mr. Hauerbach is credited in "Katinka" with a brighter and snappier play than either of his predecessors, while Mr. Friml's score is considered one of the most sensational achievements in the realm of light musical comedy in the history of the American stage. His melody "Rackety" is the feature of the score, is of the compelling kind that never leaves the memory, but breaks out frequently in whistling and humming. The love song, "Katinka" has a tenderness and sweetness that make it a classic, while "I Want to Marry a Male Quartette" is one of the brightest satires of recent years.

ORPHEUM

What has proven to be one of the best return engagements ever presented at the Orpheum theater, has been achieved by that brilliant musical comedy "The Night Clerk," which closes its three days' engagements tonight. A chorus of pretty singing and dancing girls adds much to the enjoyment of this pleasing entertainment, the musical numbers being catchy, beautiful, and extremely pleasing withal.

For the last three days of the week the Orpheum will offer an exceedingly high class vaudeville program. As a special feature, Rex Adams and company in a comedy melodrama "The Night Hawks" with a cast of clever character delineators, with four other high class vaudeville acts comprise the program. Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Aricraft Picture corporation will present Mary Pickford in the wonderful motion picture production, "Less Than the Dust."

BRINGING UP FATHER

18 Year Old Lad Is New Discovery In Heavyweight Class

By Frank G. Menke.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—"Snowy" Baker, has uncovered an 18-year-old youngster—Jim Tracey—whom he believes will some day be heavyweight champion of the world.

"He is 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs about 185 pounds now," writes Baker. "In a year or two he will put on 35 or 40 pounds more and then he'll be ready to go out after the best man in the world."

"The kid has been boxing only a few months with Les Darcy training him," Les declares that Tracey is a coming wonder; and Les knows a fighter when he sees one. The boy can hit with the power of a mule's kick. He is fast and smart, too, and learns the fine points of the game quickly."

Tracey, by the way, walked 300 miles for a chance to become a battler. His home was far out in the Queensland bush. One day he got into a scrap with the town bully and gave him a nifty lacing. The bully had friends and they went "gunning" for the kid.

Tracey remained in hiding for a while and then decided to go to Sydney, the Australian mecca of pugilists. Having no funds for railroad fare, he set out afoot. Forty-seven days later, he bedraggled and weary, he saluted Baker. And the promoter, impressed with the gauneness of the boy in making that long journey, alone, has taken him under his wing.

Bonus for Knockouts.

Whoop'er up, men, for Harry Sherman, of Minneapolis. He's a fight promoter with the right idea. When he puts on bouts he guarantees fat bonuses for knockouts.

"The fans want to see knockouts and the only way to get them what they want is to put a premium on them," says Sherman. "The battlers, in recent years, haven't been trying very hard to land sleep wallop. But I guess when they know they'll get an extra $100 or $500 or $1,000 for slipping across such a swat they'll try to get that extra dough."

Squads In Shape for Saturday's Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 15.—After a day of rest the Yale football squad resumed its heavy work today in preparation for the Princeton game on Saturday. Practically all the men are in good shape.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

NEW YORK—Joe Azevedo of California shaded Chick Simler of Scranton in ten rounds. Shamus O'Brien, who Yonkers Hightweight, and Harry Pierce, of Brooklyn, were ordered out of the ring in the fourth round by the referee, who declared they were faking.

BOSTON—Ted Lewis of England and Jack Britton of Chicago boxed ten rounds to a draw.

PITTSBURGH—George (Knock-out) Brown of Chicago, outpointed Buck Cronse, of this city, in a six round bout.

GREENWICH, Conn.—During a big democratic parade held to celebrate President Wilson's re-election, William Widman, a baker, rolled a loaf of bread along the main thoroughfare to pay a bet made with Miss Margaret Brennan.

And Sherman is right.

McGoorty Wallops "Bookies."

Eddie McGoorty, the Oshkosh wallop, is ready for a return journey from Australia, where 'tis said he has gathered together, via race track winnings, a few carloads of gold.

In Sydney they now call him "Cant Lose McGoorty." Every day was a "clean-up" day for the American pug when he went to the Australian tracks and when he loomed on the horizon the "bookies" made for the storm cellars.

"McGoorty simply couldn't lose," writes "Snowy" Baker, the Australian "Fight King." "No matter what horse he bet on he collected. One day he walked up to a betting stall determined to make a $500 bet on a certain horse. Just as he was going to post the money, a friend hustled up and finally induced him to plunk down the $500 on another nag."

"The horse that McGoorty originally intended to wager on finished first; the one he did bet on came in second and Eddie just was going to cuss his friend when the judges announced that the horse that finished in front had been disqualified, and that the one finishing second—wink McGoorty had bet on—was the winner. And, of course, Eddie cashed big because his choice was a long shot."

Fulton's "Great Victory."

Fred Fulton and his manager are making much ado about little more than nothing. They're all excited over the fact that Freddie knocked out Andre Anderson in the first round in Eau Claire, Wis., the other p. m. And loudly are they acclaiming this "achievement" as another reason why Jess Willard should quit circling and spank Fred who never has done him a single wrong.

Knocking out Anderson is a trick almost as easy as accomplishment as winding up the alarm clock. Of all the jokes that ever were brought from the bushes and paraded as fighters, Anderson is the most humorous. Charles Weinert hit him in a New York ring one night, and went through the ropes and never stopped travelling till he got to his dressing room.

Tigers Cry For Victory

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 15.—Coach Speedy Rush started a final drive today with his Tiger football squad. A brand new eleven partly in personnel and more in strategy, has been promised Princeton adherents when the Tiger eleven meets Yale on Saturday. The victory of the Yale eleven over the Tigers still is rankling and there is an insistent cry for a victory this year.

SNAKE IN HER BED.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Nov. 15.—With a shriek Miss Amanda Purkiss, a pretty, young school teacher of Sutter county, jumped from her bed shortly after midnight the other morning, and fell in a faint. When she revived she pointed to her bed, and an investigation disclosed a big snake, four feet long, asleep in the schoolmistress' bed. The sudden cold weather is believed to have driven the snake to the warm bed.

NEW YORK—In a joke, Morris Bruff paid his auto speeding fine of $25 in dimes and quarters, but when the court discovered a battered dime and a Canadian quarter in the offering, Mr. Bruff's fine was increased to $30.

Piqua To Play Grace This P. M.

At the Grace church gym tonight the basketball lid will be lifted for the local fans. The Grace quintet will play the Piqua Christian five as the headliner. The preliminary will also be a good contest, as the Grace second string boys are going almost as fast as the regulars. They will play at 7 o'clock against a local five. The big game will start at 7:30. Piqua will come loaded for bear, as it has been stated that they have two guards and a forward in their line-up that are of the best in this section. Grace boys are not overconfident of winning the game, but look for a hard battle to come out in the lead. A great crowd is looked for at the opener as the Grace games last year outdrew any other contests in the city.

Change To Be Made In Penn Lineup

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Bert Bell will start at quarter for Penn against Michigan next Saturday if Coach Bob Folwell sticks to present plans. Jimmy Bryant, the regular quarter and field general, will not start, it was learned today. Folwell is said to be disappointed at the showing against Dartmouth last week, and other important shakeups in the deck.

"HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL"

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A rumor which later proved to be unfounded caused a resumption of election betting on the curb at noon. Wagers were laid that Hughes would be elected. That rumor was that an error had been found in the California count giving the state to the republicans.

Bowling

Two games were rolled last night, one on the Allen county alleys, with the Gazette team trimming the Allen County five by 110 pins. This game furnished plenty of excitement. Gardner starred for the Gazette, and Barrington for the A. C. boys.

The second contest of the evening was between the Hoosiers and Buckeyes, the former club being declared winners by 257 pins. This game was rolled at the South Side alleys. Scores:

VETERAN "CY" SEYMOUR COMES BACK.

That veteran of baseball "Cy" Seymour, once most prominent of all big league stars, has "come back" and wants to manage a minor league club. "Cy" has cut out a lot of the frivolities that entangled him in some of his later days in baseball, and has settled down as a quiet citizen leading the "simple life." "Cy" was always a great hitter. He led the National league in batting in 1905 when with the Cincinnati Reds, with a percent of .477. He was a wonderfully speedy baserunner, and a very valuable all-around man, and he still has a great deal of baseball generalship in his head. "Cy" isn't bragging about his "come-back." That isn't "Cy" style. He just knows that he is able to do things, and is perfectly confident that he would make a good manager, and most baseball writers and sportsmen agree with him.

Stiff Game On For Big Nines, 25th

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—If Northwestern and Ohio State still are undefeated when they meet at Columbus November 25, the battle in which they engage for the championship of the big nine conference will be a toss up so far as te betting odds are concerned.

On paper Northwestern has a slight edge up to date. If the purple can successfully take the Purdue hurdle, Saturday—apparently not a difficult task—the team's confidence will go soaring. Northwestern's backfield would appear to surpass that of the Buckeyes. Its substitutes are fully as good as Ohio's regulars and it has the edge on kicking.

It is in the line that the purple is outclassed, but with the return of each McDevitt from the border that end of the team will be given a stiffening that is expected to work wonders. At the ends the teams are about even, with good fast men.

A study of the performances of the two teams shows Ohio has done the best against conference teams. Here is the result:

Northwestern	10	Chicago	0
Northwestern	7	Indiana	0
Northwestern	20	Iowa	13

The figures on Ohio are:

Ohio	7	Illinois	6
Ohio	14	Wisconsin	13
Ohio	46	Indiana	7
Totals	67	Opponents	26

The dope would indicate that Ohio had the edge on offense and Northwestern on defense, but the fact that other conference teams have been unable to do much with the purple backs points to about an even break in both departments. It should be a close and hard fought game.

PETS, INSECTS AND HUMAN.

In Japan if one will leave the hotel and the tourist office and the cocktail drinkers and go out into the real native quarter, there are enough things to interest anyone. One old man passes with his load of crickets, which sing in hot weather and are kept in cages like so many canaries. These gentle creatures make a noise like a squeaky axle and one hid under the hood of a 12-passenger car would subject the most careful chauffeur to scorn. They are caught with bird-lime and make nice little pets, cheap to buy and not requiring gasoline for upkeep.

My rickshaw man is an old fellow whom I hired a year ago and who recognized me again. He is low-priced, speaks quite a little English, and has a sense of humor. I have him trained so that if we pass anyone at unusual work or go near any novel scenes, he points out things to me. He knows my fondness for the Japanese children, who are the cutest tots on earth, with their gay clothes, slant eyes and bobbed hair, and if he sees an unusually bright dress or a fine child, he points them out with a sort of a fatherly pride of race. At 2 years old the Japanese surpass all other nationalities in charm and attractiveness, and these sober yet happy little folks look as though they had strolled out of toyshop.—The Christian Herald.

COW LIKE A CAMEL.

ANDERSON, Ind., Nov. 15.—The fact that a cow can live seven days without water has been proved on the farm of James Fogarty, south of here, where a cow became a prisoner under a stack of straw and was found weak, but still alive. In the night before the cow disappeared and Mr. Fogarty notified Sheriff Black that it had been stolen. This morning a second cow was found missing. A search under a straw stack that had toppled over disclosed both animals underneath. The cow that got under the stack first was penned in on all sides and compelled to stand for seven full days and subsist on straw without a drop of water. It will live.

Pirates To Open Season With The Strong Kenton Team

The Lima Pirates, under the management of Dave Rosenbloom, will make their first appearance of the season this evening when they meet the fast Kenton Reds at that place. The Pirates were not very choicy in their first game as far as taking on a team of easy picking, but showed their anxiety of meeting the best fives when they booked a game with this club.

Kenton has always been known to put the best team on the road that they possibly could secure and will undoubtedly maintain that standard the coming season.

Last year the Kenton lads took the fast Ellerman Jads into camp by an overwhelming score, but is doubtful whether the Hardin county champs would be able to duplicate this stunt to the strengthened Pirate five.

Several familiar faces will be seen in the locals lineup. Baker, who has for the past several years been with the Ellerman Cadet aggregation and who just recently deserted that club has accepted a berth on the Pirate team, and will be used as center doth Bowman brothers, who have starred several seasons with the White Stars, will act as forwards. Bernstein and Buscher will play the guard positions. Heyng, of Celina, will probably be used as a utility man.

Kenton will line up with Brodick and Swartz, forwards, Cobuble and Smith guards, Young, center, and Cashion utility.

BRYAN COMES OUT FOR PROHIBITION AS DEMOCRATIC ISSUE

Will Begin His Fight at the National W. C. T. U. Meet, Sunday.

Federal Dry Law Will be Pushed in Congress at Next Session.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—William J. Bryan, the three time leader of democracy, has cast aside all personal aims and party measures and for the next four years will drive continually and ceaselessly to make the democratic party declare for national prohibition. The former secretary of state, here today for the first time since the late campaign started, stated his purpose in no unmistakable terms.

"When an issue arises," said Mr. Bryan, "it must be met. The prohibition issue is here. The democratic party cannot afford to take the immoral side of a moral issue."

"My work during the next four years will be to do all that I can to make democracy dry. That is the plain, unequivocal statement of my attitude."

The prohibition issue, Mr. Bryan said, is the most momentous confronting all parties, and he strongly advised his democratic colleagues to grab it while it is hot.

"It is worth noting," he said, "that the republican party, now standing defeated on old issues, will be looking for some new ones on which to base their fight in 1920—it may champion prohibition in the hope of winning the west, which already has declared its position on the wet and dry question. It is not at all possible that the parties will in 1920 enter into active rivalry for the dry vote of the country."

The election returns Mr. Bryan declared, make it very easy for the democratic party to take the lead on the two big issues of the next four years—prohibition and equal suffrage.

"The party does not owe anything to the political bosses who control the politics of the wet cities," he said. "And a considerable majority of President Wilson's electoral vote came from dry territory."

"Of the 22 dry states, 17 went for Wilson, two more were close, and in four other states, which he carried prohibition has practically been decided upon."

"Again the president carried nearly all the states in which women vote. These two issues are paramount to the party. They should not and will not be sidetracked."

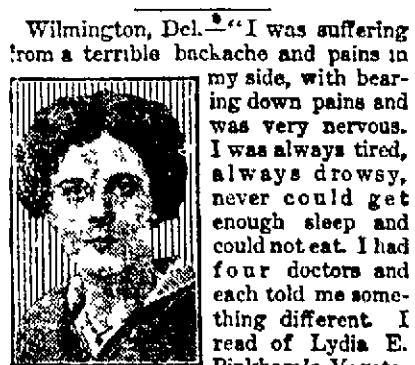

Mr. Bryan will lose no time in getting to work. His drive against the liquor element in the party will be started from Indianapolis on next Sunday morning, when he speaks before the W. C. T. U. national convention. He leaves for Indiana tonight.

Little Boy Foils Plot to Conceal Slaying

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 15.—(By AP.)—It was ten days later that Mrs. Alexander's son by a former marriage, difference between a murder and a suicide, Earl Burgess, of Company I, Thirty-fourth Infantry, is facing trial for his life for the killing of Sgt. F. A. Alexander of the same company.

Alexander's death had been formally declared a case of suicide by the coroner. Burgess was at Camp Stewart, unsuspected and Alexander's beautiful widow, becoming gowned in deep mourning, was receiving the sympathy of her neighbors, when her little son gave the information that resulted in Burgess' arrest on a charge of murder.

"There's the little boy whose papa committed suicide," one boy remarked to another as Mrs. Alexander's son passed by.

"My papa did not commit suicide. A soldier shot and killed him," was the reply.

The boy laughed, but a "plain clothes man" heard the remark and it set him thinking. An investigation was started and Burgess and the woman were soon under arrest. Then they admitted that Alexander had been shot by Burgess, but they told a story of shooting in self-defense after a quarrel of which she was the center.

Alexander was found shot dead in his home at 301 South St., Vrain street, October 3. He had been in Port Clark for some time and had only recently returned to El Paso. Neighbors said Burgess meantime had been a frequent caller at the Alexander home.

When the police arrived Mrs. Alexander told them her husband had become despondent and had shot and killed himself. She related such a convincing story that Coroner J. M. Deaver rendered a verdict of suicide.

When Burgess was arrested in court the child was the chief witness against him.

"That is the man who killed my papa," the boy said, pointing at Burgess. "My papa shot at my mama, and then the soldier shot at my papa. He shot him in the mouth. My papa fell on the floor and then the soldier went away. My mama cried after my papa was dead. I found the bullet that killed him. I carried it in my pocket a few days, and then a big boy took it away from me. The soldier had his gun in his front. It was a short gun. He and my papa and my mama had been quarrelling."

No cross-examination could shake the child's story.

"I know where bad boys go if they don't tell the truth," the boy declared in answer to a question.

When Mrs. Alexander was called to the stand she admitted that Burgess had shot her husband. She said she and Burgess had been friendly for some time, and that when her husband returned she refused to leave her home for the other man. Then, she swore, a quarrel began at which Burgess was present.

Her husband, she said, fired a shot at her and she fell to the floor, feigning to be dead. Alexander then turned on Burgess, she testified, saying, "I'll get you, too." He fired again, but again missed and Burgess shot and killed him.

Mrs. Alexander said she told the suicide story in order to avoid a scandal and to save her child from disgrace.

PRESIDENT WILSON DROPS POLITICS AND ATTENDS GRANDCHILD'S CHRISTENING.

MRS. FRANCIS B. SAYRE.
While the country still bubbled and boiled with political excitement; while California evidently had gone for Wilson, but return still coming in, might have changed it, President Wilson left politics behind him and left Shadow Lawn to go to Williamstown, Mass., to attend the christening of the second child of his daughter, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre.

GIRL'S DEATH STILL BAFFLING MYSTERY

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15.—Police said today that within the death-closed lips of 17-year-old Bertha Kozak, lying on a marble slab at an undertaking establishment, was locked one of the most baffling heart-interest cases the department has worked on this year. The body was found by police yesterday on Lower Shaker Lake, was taken to the home of her sorrow-stricken mother, today four weeks ago, police pointed out, Mamie Vavra, chum of the Kozak girl, disappeared. A few days later her body was taken from Rocky River, the prospects of going through life with an artificial arm was too much. A few days later the Kozak girl dropped out of sight. Police searched from Rocky river to Willoughby; so did the distracted mother, and her fiancé, Ernest D. Bradley, but of no avail.
